

World Wildlife Fund (WWF), the world's largest multinational conservation organization, is working with GLOBALG.A.P to provide training to auditors regarding the aquaculture standards developed by the WWF-initiated Aquaculture Dialogues. This includes standards finalized by the Tilapia Aquaculture Dialogue in December 2009, which will be discussed in this training program. Also as part of the WWF/GLOBALG.A.P partnership, GLOBALG.A.P's accredited Certification Bodies will be authorized by GLOBALG.A.P to audit farms that adopt the Dialogue standards. The standards will be added on, in their entirety, to the GLOBALG.A.P Standards.

AQUACULTURE BASE WORKSHOP
 and the International Standards for Responsible Tilapia
 Cartagena | Colombia
 09-12 November 2010

Training is a very important means for GLOBALG.A.P to reach out to the experts working in the implementation of Good Agricultural Practice worldwide.

Content of our trainings are the rules of our system (General Regulations) and the requirements to be implemented on the farms (Control Points).

Our trainers provide participants with all necessary material and work on practical case studies.

- What is behind GLOBALG.A.P
- How does the certification system work?
- How can the Standard requirements be implemented?
- What is new?
- How can different cases be solved

Who should participate?

- Auditors,
- Scheme Managers,
- Technical Advisors
- Consulting Companies.
